

NEWS GATHERED FROM SOUTHSIDE

Negro Crapshooter Pays Fine Before His Case Is Tried.

BUSY TIME WITH THE POLICE

Man with One Leg Got Caught and Told on the Others.

Manchester Bureau, Times-Dispatch, No. 1102 Hull Street.

Butler Keys, colored, walked into the Police Station last night and slipped down $2 for playing crap on Saturday. Although he said he knew the fine would not amount to more than that as he usually "got caught" about twice a week and $2 was what he always paid.

Keys and some friends of his, all devoted to the sport, were indulged in their usual Saturday night game in a syndicate car on the Atlantic Coast Line when Sergeant Wright and Officer Waymack raided the rendezvous. The negroes on hearing the officers coming climbed to the side of the car and jumped to the ground—a distance of about twelve feet—and although the policemen gave chase, the players, aided by the darkness, escaped with one exception, that being a man who was so unfortunate as to have only one leg. This man gave the names of the others, and warrants were issued for Keys, Jack Mill, alias "Dirty Bill," and Ernest Bland. Those that do not follow the example of Keys will appear before his honor this morning.

Fought in Street.
Georgia Davis, Mary Richardson and Kim Davis, colored, had an open fight on the street on Saturday night. The cause of the trouble has not been ascertained, but it is known that Georgia attempted to carve Mary with a fork, and the latter retaliated by biting Georgia about the face.

Kim Davis took a hand in the matter at first as a peacemaker, but after getting into the spirit of the affair proceeded to beat whichever woman happened to be nearest him. A warrant was issued for all three, and they will explain to "Squire Jordan" this morning.

Beat His Wife.
John Lewis Smith, colored, beat his wife, Lizzie, on Saturday night. This makes somewhere in the neighborhood of the twenty-fifth time that John has injured himself in this recreation, and, as usual, after having done the job thoroughly, he fled to the woods and has not yet been apprehended. Not satisfied with merely knocking his better-half down, John, after having accomplished that feat, proceeded to kick her in the head. The woman who was severely injured, complained to the police, but John had disappeared before their arrival. However, he is expected back about Wednesday, or as soon as he gets hungry, and when he again puts in appearance he will be arrested.

Topsy Also Gone.
After having taught Bury May on the nose with a pair of brass knuckles, Topsy Jones, a negro of notorious reputation, vanished, and the search made by the police for him has so far been unsuccessful.

Mayo, whose nose was broken by the blow, says that they had not been quarrelling, and that Topsy, who evidently had it in for him, hit him when he was not looking. However, judging from the point where the blow landed Mayo would have had to have his eyes closed for this to be the case. Topsy, who has been in any number of court cases, and who was not long ago seriously shot by another negro, is one of the kind that cannot stay away, and the police expect him to return within the next few days.

Personals and Briefs.
O. J. Merritt will appear before "Squire Jordan" this morning, charged with having a dangerous dog running at large.

Mayor H. A. Maurice is expected to return this morning from his brother's home, where he has been for the past few days recuperating from the strain incident to his recent campaign.

The monthly meeting of the Board of Aldermen will be held to-morrow night, at which time many important matters will come up.

Mr. Marsten French, son of Mr. John T. French, is slightly improved.

Bishop C. C. Penick preached to a large congregation at Meade Memorial Episcopal Church yesterday morning.

Father D. P. Conman, pastor of the Sacred Heart Church, has returned from Lynchburg, where he went to attend the funeral of the mother of Father Collins, of that city.

The next term of the Corporation Court will begin to-day week. The docket will be large, as there are many cases to be heard, including two felonies and several large suits for damage.

BYRD FOR PROHIBITION

Addresses Thousands People at Winchester—Declares county Will Be Dry.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

WINCHESTER, VA., April 12.—The height of the present local option campaign was reached this afternoon when Speaker Richard Evelyn Byrd, author of the Byrd liquor bill, which was recently passed by Virginia Legislature, made an address before nearly 1,000 men in the City Hall. He expressed belief that time would come when prohibition would be in effect all over the United States, and that public sentiment was behind the present temperance wave. Mr. Byrd declared himself unequivocally in favor of prohibition, and his outspoken utterances were punctuated with terrific applause.

Baby Mine

A mother should be a source of joy to all, but the suffering and danger incident to the ordeal makes its anticipation one of misery. Mother's Friend is the only remedy which relieves women of the great pain and danger of maternity; this hour which is dreaded as woman's severest trial is not only made painless, but all the danger is avoided by its use. Those who use this remedy are no longer despondent or gloomy; nervousness, nausea and other distressing conditions are overcome, the system is made ready for the coming event, and the serious accidents so common to the critical hour are obviated by the use of Mother's Friend. "It is worth its weight in gold," says many who have used it. $1.00 per bottle at drug stores. Book containing valuable information of interest to all women, will be sent to any address free upon application to BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO., Atlanta, Ga.

For Sprains or Strains

Sloan's Liniment

Acts instantly, relieves all inflammation and reduces swelling.

For Lameness, Back ache, Stiff Neck, Cramp or Colic, Bruises, Cuts, and any Soreness, Sloan's Liniment is unsurpassed.

Price, 25c, 60c, and $1.00.

Dr. Earl S. Sloan, Boston, Mass.

Such enthusiasm has scarcely ever been witnessed in this city. All local pastors preached temperance sermons to-day, and a song service by hundreds of children was held on Frederick Plaza. A union meeting was held at Market Street Methodist Episcopal Church to-night, and Superintendent W. H. Anderson, of the Maryland Anti-Saloon League, enters the campaign to-morrow.

FREEDOM OF CITY

Fleet's Officers and Men to Be Royally Entertained at San Diego.

SAN DIEGO, CAL., April 12.—A wireless message received at 12:50 this morning said that the battleship fleet left Magdalena Bay at 4:10 P. M. Saturday on its way to this port. The fleet was making good progress at the time this message was sent.

The ships will be in position to anchor about 1 o'clock on Tuesday. The ships will be in division formation form or four lines of vessels each at Coronado Beach. The welcoming ceremonies in this, the first Pacific home port to be touched by the fleet, have been completed.

The ships will remain here four days before resuming their journey up the coast. Tuesday evening, red signal fires along the beach will burn a welcome to the ships, and in return the ships will fire salutes.

Thousands of incandescent bulbs from 8 to 11 P. M. A searchlight drill will add to the evening spectacle. A band of music will be playing on the beach at the Hotel Del Coronado Tuesday night will round out the first day's event.

On Wednesday, April 15th, the full fleet of nearly 5,000 men will parade through the principal streets of the city, and Mayor John F. Horwath will be present.

Kim Davis took a hand in the matter at first as a peacemaker, but after getting into the spirit of the affair proceeded to beat whichever woman happened to be nearest him. A warrant was issued for all three, and they will explain to "Squire Jordan" this morning.

Thursday there will be a picnic in the country for officers and boat races for the men.

Friday the enlisted men will be given a day of rest, and all sorts of entertainments have been planned for them. Friday night a ball to the junior officers at the Hotel Del Coronado will mark the close of the fleet's visit.

SHOCKS DIAMOND MARKET

Lemoina Says He Will Convince Experts of Ability to Produce Artificial Gems.

LONDON, April 12.—M. Lemoina, diamond maker, who is now in London in connection with the fight for the possession of the formula of his secret process, which is resting in the vaults of the Union of London and Smith's Bank Limited, has just declared to the world's diamond market will soon receive a shock from which it will never recover.

Arrangements are being discussed in London for putting M. Lemoina's assertion to a test. Professor Herbert Jackson, the famous experimental and analytical chemist of King's College, London, has been asked to conduct the test at a suitable laboratory can be found here. Professor Sylvanus Thompson and Professor Ray Lankaster will also be present.

"When my next demonstration shall have been made, and the result of my tests shall have been put on the market, both the trade and my enemies will be confounded," said Lemoina. "I expect this will occur within three months."

"Men in the secrets of the trade known they have good reason to testify against me. My enemies say I am not a chemist, but I am not a chemist, but my diploma is from the Technical Institute of Milan. I learned how to make diamonds by several years of persistent observation of nature in South Africa, where nature's own diamond laboratory is always turning out diamonds by the same method. I am not a chemist, but I am a chemist, and the only point of comparison being that I also have a heart. The main thing was the discovery of an expeditionary way of dissolving carbon."

"You will hardly believe that I made diamonds two years before knowing it, yet that is true, and as no lapidary took the trouble to examine them, they were not recognized. I am now experimenting with my diamond powder in polishing other stones."

My equipment still is in a crude state, but I am confident that I can ask in which to prove my assertions."

ENGLISH COTTON SPINNERS WILL NOT BUY LANDS HERE

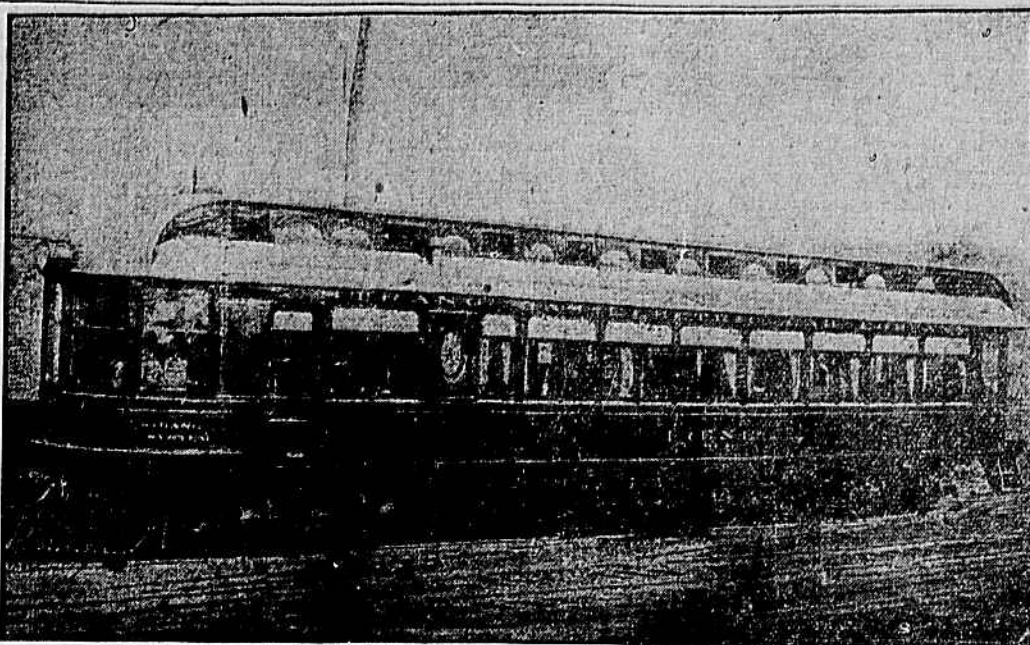

MANCHESTER, ENGLAND, April 12.—The Lancashire cotton spinners have abandoned the scheme to purchase cotton-growing estates in the Mississippi delta, owing to legal impediments against aliens holding real estate.

The Cotton Spinners' Association had already appointed a committee to take preliminary steps to form a company to take control of a cotton plantation in the United States, this being one of the results of the visit of the British delegation to that country last year.

Becoming a mother should be a source of joy to all, but the suffering and danger incident to the ordeal makes its anticipation one of misery. Mother's Friend is the only remedy which relieves women of the great pain and danger of maternity; this hour which is dreaded as woman's severest trial is not only made painless, but all the danger is avoided by its use. ## EXPERIMENTING WITH RAILWAY MOTOR CAR

SIDE VIEW OF CAR.

The Pennsylvania Railway Company is experimenting with the Strang railway motor car, two views of which are presented above. The car runs entirely by its own power, making trolley and third rail unnecessary, and is built to run fifty-five miles an hour normally. But during the recent experiments it has made an average speed of a mile a minute. The car, which looks externally much like an ordinary private motor car, except that it has a small "cow-catcher," is equipped with gasoline engines for the generation of electricity. The power thus generated is transmitted to motors placed underneath, just as they are on the ordinary street car. It is capable of drawing two cars, each containing seventy-five passengers, but it is said that the heaviest passenger trains may be hauled by cars of this type over the general grades at high present-day railroad speeds. The car is sixty-six feet over all and weighs fifty tons.

CONGRESSIONAL OUTLOOK

WASHINGTON, April 12.—With the exception of a revival of the discussion over the Brownsville affair, nothing of particular interest is expected to develop in either house of Congress this week. While determined to continue their filibuster with the end in view of forcing their opponents to enter upon the consideration of the legislation especially recommended by the President, Democratic members of the House will place no obstruction in the path of appropriation bills, and for this reason they probably will not be called upon during the present week to resort to their delay tactics. The House will continue its work on the fiscal bill until that measure is disposed of, and when that result is attained will take up the diplomatic appropriation bill. The consideration of these measures will occupy the entire week.

The Senate again finds itself without material in the shape of appropriation bills to work on, and after giving Monday to miscellaneous subjects, including legislation for the District of Columbia, it will revamp the Brownsville affair.

The subject will be opened up Tuesday by Senator Foraker, who, as the champion of the discharged negro soldiers, will present their claims in an elaborate speech, in which he will review the testimony and make an effort to have the Senate take the Committee of Military Affairs by passing the Senator's bill providing for the enlistment of the men who lost their places as the result of the President's order.

The question once opened, there will be probably several speeches on it. There are several appropriation bills before the Senate, but they are all in committee, where for various reasons they have been kept for some time. These include agricultural, the post-office and the pension bills. The latter has been held for some time in the Committee on Pensions, to await the outcome of the conference between the two houses on the bill increasing to $12 per month the pensions of widows. If this legislation is enacted, and there is no doubt it will be in some form, it will be necessary for the Senate to figure beyond $160,000,000, the largest sum ever carried by a pension bill.

DUCHES HAS SKATING RINK

Her Grace of Bedford Is Proprietress of Big Ice Palace.

LONDON, April 12.—The Duchess of Bedford has an extraordinary hobby. She is proprietress of Prince's Skating Rink at Knightsbridge. Some years ago she bought out the owners and has since run the palace (at a loss, it is said) for her own amusement. She is an ardent skater, and hardly a day passes in the winter season that she is not to be seen on the artificial ice at Prince's.

It is a favorite place for flirtations, and the instructors there have some of the fairest of London's society women among their admirers.

While the duchess is conducting a skating rink the duke has an idea that he ought to be made Secretary of State for War. He talks on military subjects in the House of Lords, having been a captain in an infantry regiment, as poor as a mouse, when he was unexpectedly brought into line for perhaps the richest duchy in England. The duchess was the daughter of a clergyman in India.

When the skating season is over she retires to one of her husband's country estates, where she fishes industriously throughout the fishing season.

NEVILLE LYTTON AN ARTIST

Descendant of Famous Novelist Married Byron's Great Granddaughter.

LONDON, April 12.—The Hon. Mrs. Neville Lytton is the great granddaughter of Lord Byron, and her husband is the grandson of Edward Bulwer Lytton. It is a remarkable conjunction of distinguished literary strains, and its results in the next generation (there are two daughters and a son) are awaited with curiosity.

The Hon. Neville Lytton is an artist of considerable promise and wholehearted devotion to his art. His wife is a writer and sculptress, equally absorbed in her avocation. They live in a studio in the prettiest part of Surrey, with a charming cottage attached to it. They move altogether in a set which is, or affects to be, above all cultivated and refined.

Mrs. Neville Lytton is very handsome, her features suggesting those of her great forbear, the poet. Mr. Wilfred Seaven Blunt, a man of literary and poetic distinction, who has largely devoted his talents to furthering the cause of the Egyptian fellaheen against the cosmopolitan capitalist, whose representative and trustee in Egypt is the British government.

DARING ELECTRICIAN DIES

Current Kills Him While Trying to Give a Town Light.

DENVER, COL., April 12.—Daring of no common type was rewarded by death yesterday evening when Archie L. Lowe, a young electrical engineer of Denver, recently graduated from Yale, was electrocuted at Greeley after quietly accepting a deadly risk which had already been declined by another man of unquestioned nerve. The undertaking was to repair an electrical transformer while a current of 2,300 volts was passing, and to do it without turning off the current.

To achieve this feat meant to give light to the town of Baton last night, and to turn off the current (making the work safe) meant to deprive Greeley of light. The man to whom the work naturally fell, E. Wellridge, declined turning off the current.

"I am a married man," he said, "and I don't care to take such a risk."

"An single," said Lowe, "and we've promised Baton the light. I'll attend to the work."

Instantly Wellridge turned off the current and dragged Lowe to a place of safety. Lowe was not dead, and asked to be turned over on his back. The physician worked over him for an hour, but in vain.

AMUSEMENTS

Academy—Dark.

Bijou—"Convict 999."

Colonial—Vandeville.

Majestic—Vandeville.

THE members of the company presenting "Molly Bawn" at the Bijou last week, were laboring under disadvantages which the audience hardly understood. In the first place, the piece had been put on only a few times, and as often happens, there were many little points upon which it was seen that improvement could be made.

Therefore, the piece was put under the pressure of being "whipped into shape" for this purpose, Mr. Frank Tannehill was sent to rehearse the company. Much of the old "business" was changed, and new substituted by Mr. Tannehill, who is quite adept in stagecraft. However, while this ultimate will greatly improve the play, it is a difficult matter for the people in a cast to make such change for the first time without causing many awkward pauses, which an audience notices without understanding the reasons.

Several new actors were secured for parts that were not cast to the best advantage, and this added to the general demoralized condition of the company. And so the members of the Molly Bawn Company were having a hard time of it last week, some of the women of the company being on the verge of hysterics before the last performance, while the men were in anything but a cheerful mood. The company has six weeks now, most of the time being in the big cities, before the season closes. Mr. Tannehill, who was busy all the week, cutting scenes, and adding others, and Mr. Norbert Caughy, the stage manager, think that the performances this week in Washington will be running much more smoothly. The week commencing Easter Monday will be played in Philadelphia.

Animal Show to Close.

This is the last week of the Ferar Trained Wild Animal Arena and Jungle at Idlewood Park, and as a finishing touch the farewell program will be of unusual strength. All the animals will be put on in order to get them thoroughly prepared for their touring season, which commences in a few days.

By special request the sea lions will appear at every performance, and of themselves, should prove a great attraction, being undoubtedly among the cleverest beast-actors.

Selica, Marcella, Macpherson and the other principal trainers will also appear at every performance.

Easter Monday, April 20th, will be the last day in Richmond.

Lurid Melodrama Here.

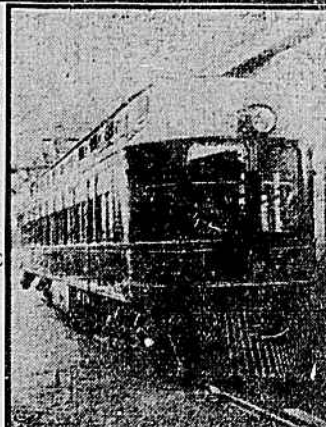

Al Wood's melodrama, "Convict 999," will begin a week's engagement at the Bijou to-night. The play is exceedingly lurid, with thirteen scenes scattered through four acts. Pike O'Hara, the sweet-voiced Irishman, will appear at this theatre next week, in "Dion O'Dare."

Leonard to Receive.

Eddie Leonard, the Richmond minstrel star, who is the headliner at the Colonial this week, will hold a reception on the stage after the performance on Tuesday night, when he will shake hands with his friends, and introduce them to other members of the company.

Returns at Bijou.

Manager McKee has arranged to announce the result of the election from the stage at the Bijou on Tuesday night.

FAMILY POISONED; SUITOR SUSPECTED

Wife's Former Lover Believed to Have Followed Pair from Sicily.

CHICAGO, ILL., April 12.—The mysterious attempt to poison the family of Frank Renda, which resulted in the death of his four-year-old daughter, Mary, and the serious illness of his wife and self, is believed by the police, who have had its origin in Sicily, where five years ago, Renda married Antonette Merlino.

Detectives are working on the theory that Renda was followed from Sicily to America by some former suitor of the young woman, and that the suitor planned to murder the family by placing arsenic in their food.

Renda, his wife and child, became seriously ill Monday. The physicians reported the death of the young girl, and an analysis of the food found in the dwelling was made by the city chemist. In a twenty-five-pound sack of flour, he found sufficient arsenic to cause the death of twenty persons.

MUST WEAR HONOR BADGES.

War Department Makes It Mandatory on Soldiers.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 12.—The War Department has officially declared that campaign badges are a part of the uniform of an officer and that it is necessary for officers to wear them as required in the case of an insignia of rank.

The department has adopted a design for the Civil War badges, with the head of Lincoln, on the obverse side, together with the motto, "With malice toward none, with charity to all." The reverse side of the badge is inscribed, "The Civil War, 1861 to 1865," surrounded by a wreath.

BOLD BURGLARY

Three Negroes Enter Home of White Woman and Search House for Money.

SOUTH HILL, VA., April 12.—Last night three negroes entered the home of Mrs. Ottilia Schneider, who lives near this place. She had been paid a sum of money yesterday. One of the negroes held her while the others made a search.

On discovering a large wallet, it was seized, and the negroes entered their escape, thinking it contained the money, but there were only receipts and papers in it; not a cent of money. Mrs. Schneider says she knows the negroes and they will be arrested.

She is the same woman who was seized and the negroes entered her escape, thinking it contained the money, but there were only receipts and papers in it; not a cent of money. Mrs. Schneider says she knows the negroes and they will be arrested.

Father Wins His Child

Does So Graciously in Order to Keep Down the Number of Dukes.

"Will I take the pledge?" repeated Chevalier Rochecollet, otherwise known as the Duke of Richmond, deftly lifting a soft drink to his lips last night.

"Will a summer girl stand for goo-goo eyes?" Will Bryan accept the nomination? Will Bosco swallow a sword? Of course I'll take it, without mental reservation or salt; without making a face, and without as much as wot tell. Hasn't Mr. Bryan said somewhere in the yellow journals that Mr. Theodore was trying to make this a kingdom? You know what that coming of Mr. Theodore then would have titles, and Chevalier, the Duke of Richmond, would be skinned forty ways from the deuce.

"No, sir; just so long as titles belong to the pure, I fear I shall not be able to keep them away from the rabble. Suppose Mr. Theodore is 'lected again. There'll be titles to throw at the jay-birds. There is a Duke of Manchester, a Duke of Richmond; but why detract from the glory of these by having a Duchess of Skingquarter? Va, a Prince of Petersburg, or a Baron of Newport News? Perish the thought. Plish; also tush; I wave them away with a slap on the wrist."

To swallow the pledge is as easy as this—and here's royal and selfish. That is why I am opposed to having a King in Washington and count in Richmond. There are only seventeen real jokers; there are only two dukes, and Manchester is the other one. Therefore, Louis swallows the pledge and the world is wiser."

PRINCESS MORICA PIA, whose father, the King of Saxony, has taken the child from her mother, now the wife of the musician, Toselli. The return of the child was a result of a long struggle between the King and his former wife. When the King, who had met his daughter at Leipzig, reached Dresden, the populace were gathered at the station to do her honor.

MR. SLAUGHTER ENJOYS DRIVE

Routed Negro from Wagon and Went Forth to See the Sights.

Having dispatched his trusted Ethiopian, Jim White, to the city on Saturday morning for the purpose of bringing back to his farm in Henrico county, a load of necessities for the spring activities, Mr. Atkinson, former manager of the Wilton farm, who owned the outfit, was astonished when he came to Richmond a few hours later to discover his well-loaded wagon moving along the street in charge of a white man, whose face he did not know, with the faithful James nowhere to be seen.

Not being a man to purchase a pig in a bag, Mr. Atkinson was loth to give up his black-faced driver and take in his stead this unknown person. He therefore rushed into the street and bade the man come down and explain himself. The driver, recognized as one John Slaughter, on a royal jag, answered in a husky and threatening voice that there was nothing doing. After further remonstrance on the part of Mr. Atkinson, the self-appointed teamster remained obdurate, and a policeman had to be called to coax him off his perch. Inquiries as to the whereabouts of Jim and the whip, which was also missing, elicited from Slaughter nothing more than an unintelligible string of grunts and mumblings.

Negro Obeded Orders.

Finding that he had lost nothing but Jim and the whip, Mr. Atkinson preferred to charge against Slaughter, who was taken along as a plain drunk and later turned loose after sobering up a bit. Just as the owner of the team was getting into the seat to drive home, he was informed that his black-faced driver had been seen with the whip over his shoulder, waiting for open country as fast as his legs could carry him. His informant knowing something of the vagaries of Slaughter, said that most probably he had just approached the wagon when it was in charge of Jim and calmly ordered him to make himself scarce, and literally took the reins in his own hands. Jim being of a timid nature, took the tip and pulled forth in double-quick time, taking with him the whip, which was about the only thing on the wagon that would not seriously impede his progress.

Seeing that all his belongings were in good condition, Mr. Atkinson, who after dislodging his new driver, was disposed to treat the matter as a huge joke, drove off beating no longer against Jim, who had proved unworthy of his trust, or against the convivial Mr. Slaughter.

First Shot Fired

Cannibal That Marked Opening of Civil War Given to National Museum.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 12.—The United States National Museum, which received as a gift from Dr. W. H. Hutson, Ford, now residing in Washington, a forty-pound cannon ball fired from Fort Sumter at the beginning of the engagement on April 12, 1861, which marked the opening of the Civil War. In connection with the gift, Major Anderson devoted his attention to the floating battery which was moored in Sullivan's Island, near the western extremity of the island, a quarter from the fort. Three of his shots struck the battery and rebounded, and the battery, falling to penetrate more than three inches into one of the surgeons of the hospital at Mount Pleasant across the lagoon back of Sullivan's Island, as there was nothing to do, being no wounded, in company with a colleague, I visited the battery on the 13th of April, and saw the shot lying in front of the floating battery on the sand bank. I caught up one of them in my handkerchief and brought it back to the museum. Its historic value, I then took the ball successfully to Charleston and Alken. It thence to St. Louis, where it remained until I brought it to Washington.

For the last year Mr. Poe, who is a devotee of a traveler, hunter and soldier of fortune as well as a miner, has been operating a gold mine at Tonopa. Up to April 7th the mine has been anything but a bonanza, and he has been justly rewarded for his labor would be up on April 25th.

On the morning of April 7th, his brother, Attorney Edgar Allen Poe, had just received a letter from him, says "Bush" Harman, foreman
